Fieldstone Homes is an award-winning home builder with over 30 years of home building experience. Since 1981, Fieldstone Homes has built more than 29,000 quality homes. Companies within Fieldstone are privately-held with offices in Irvine, California and Salt Lake City, Utah.

Fieldstone's vision is to be a model of excellence in homebuilding, with people working together who are committed to providing value to our customers and service to our community. It is the basis upon which we conduct our business and the standard by which we operate. Intrinsic to that vision is our strong commitment to customer service, our meticulous attention to detail, and the partnerships we foster in the communities in which we build through charitable, cultural and scholastic support. These are the principles that form the Fieldstone building foundation...a foundation that provides a solid basis for enriched family living.

We at Fieldstone believe that the value of our homes is the result of the values that we practice. That is why we have a strong focus on building homes that are environmentally friendly and conserve our natural resources. Above all, we believe in building a home you and your family will love.
